FULL FINANCIAL INTEREST DISCLOSURE

Doug Hopman (individual public adjuster) commonly refers Insureds to Summit Roofing (referred contractor) for construction work. Summit Roofing (referred contractor) shares similar ownership with Doug Hopman (individual public adjuster), meaning that the owners of Doug Hopman (individual public adjuster) financially benefit from sums paid to Summit Roofing (referred contractor).

If the Insured retains Summit Roofing (referred contractor) to perform construction work related to the Insured's claim, Doug Hopman (individual public adjuster) waives the fee that would otherwise be charged to the Insured and from which the Public Adjuster is normally paid for his or her work on behalf of the Insured. In these cases, Doug Hopman (individual public adjuster) is paid by Summit Roofing (referred contractor) ten percent (10 %) of the total value of the required construction work or a fee of $500 which will be provided to the insured upon request and kept in Doug Hopmans records for the Illinois Department of Insurance review.
